

Cookie Party Invitation Card Template

1. Open the card template in Acrobat Reader, and enter your party information in the editable form fields.
2. Square the number of guests you'll have (include yourself in the head count), and print that number of recipe cards. So if you're inviting four guests, print 25 recipe cards.
3. Cut out the invitation and recipe cards. Punch a hole through the tab on each invitation and each recipe card; apply a reinforcement label to each hole, if you wish.
4. Thread one invitation onto each loose-leaf ring, followed by enough recipe cards so that each guest can bring copies of their recipe to share with each of the other guests. (In our example from Step 2, include four recipe cards with each invitation. You'll have enough left over so you can create copies of your own recipe to share, plus a few extras.)
5. Hand-deliver to your lucky guests!

Completion

Tools & Materials

- White cardstock
- Hole punch
- Reinforcement labels (optional)
- Loose-Leaf Rings (one per invitation; available at office supply stores)
- Scissors

front (100%)

For more craft ideas and templates, go to our website: www.potterybarnkids.com and search parties.

© potterybarnkids.com

Cookie Party Recipe Card Template

1. Open the card template in Acrobat Reader, and enter your party information in the editable form fields.
2. Square the number of guests you'll have (include yourself in the head count), and print that number of recipe cards. So if you're inviting four guests, print 25 recipe cards.
3. Cut out the invitation and recipe cards. Punch a hole through the tab on each invitation and each recipe card; apply a reinforcement label to each hole, if you wish.
4. Thread one invitation onto each loose-leaf ring, followed by enough recipe cards so that each guest can bring copies of their recipe to share with each of the other guests. (In our example from Step 2, include four recipe cards with each invitation. You'll have enough left over so you can create copies of your own recipe to share, plus a few extras.)
5. Hand-deliver to your lucky guests!

Completion

Tools & Materials

- White cardstock
- Hole punch
- Reinforcement labels (optional)
- Loose-Leaf Rings (one per invitation; available at office supply stores)
- Scissors

Recipe

Ingredients: ..... ..... ..... .....	Steps: ..... ..... ..... .....
---	---

front (100%)

For more craft ideas and templates, go to our website: www.potterybarnkids.com and search parties.

© potterybarnkids.com

Cookie Party Invitation Card Template

1. Open the card template in Acrobat Reader, and enter your party information in the editable form fields.
2. Square the number of guests you'll have (include yourself in the head count), and print that number of recipe cards. So if you're inviting four guests, print 25 recipe cards.
3. Cut out the invitation and recipe cards. Punch a hole through the tab on each invitation and each recipe card; apply a reinforcement label to each hole, if you wish.
4. Thread one invitation onto each loose-leaf ring, followed by enough recipe cards so that each guest can bring copies of their recipe to share with each of the other guests. (In our example from Step 2, include four recipe cards with each invitation. You'll have enough left over so you can create copies of your own recipe to share, plus a few extras.)
5. Hand-deliver to your lucky guests!

Completion

Tools & Materials

- White cardstock
- Hole punch
- Reinforcement labels (optional)
- Loose-Leaf Rings (one per invitation; available at office supply stores)
- Scissors

front (100%)

For more craft ideas and templates, go to our website: www.potterybarnkids.com and search parties.

© potterybarnkids.com

Cookie Party Recipe Card Template

1. Open the card template in Acrobat Reader, and enter your party information in the editable form fields.
2. Square the number of guests you'll have (include yourself in the head count), and print that number of recipe cards. So if you're inviting four guests, print 25 recipe cards.
3. Cut out the invitation and recipe cards. Punch a hole through the tab on each invitation and each recipe card; apply a reinforcement label to each hole, if you wish.
4. Thread one invitation onto each loose-leaf ring, followed by enough recipe cards so that each guest can bring copies of their recipe to share with each of the other guests. (In our example from Step 2, include four recipe cards with each invitation. You'll have enough left over so you can create copies of your own recipe to share, plus a few extras.)
5. Hand-deliver to your lucky guests!

Completion

Tools & Materials

- White cardstock
- Hole punch
- Reinforcement labels (optional)
- Loose-Leaf Rings (one per invitation; available at office supply stores)
- Scissors

Recipe

Ingredients: ..... ..... ..... ..... .....	Steps: ..... ..... ..... ..... .....
---	---

front (100%)

For more craft ideas and templates, go to our website: www.potterybarnkids.com and search parties.

© potterybarnkids.com

Cookie Party Recipe Card Template

1. Open the card template in Acrobat Reader, and enter your party information in the editable form fields.
2. Square the number of guests you'll have (include yourself in the head count), and print that number of recipe cards. So if you're inviting four guests, print 25 recipe cards.
3. Cut out the invitation and recipe cards. Punch a hole through the tab on each invitation and each recipe card; apply a reinforcement label to each hole, if you wish.
4. Thread one invitation onto each loose-leaf ring, followed by enough recipe cards so that each guest can bring copies of their recipe to share with each of the other guests. (In our example from Step 2, include four recipe cards with each invitation. You'll have enough left over so you can create copies of your own recipe to share, plus a few extras.)
5. Hand-deliver to your lucky guests!

Completion

Tools & Materials

- White cardstock
- Hole punch
- Reinforcement labels (optional)
- Loose-Leaf Rings (one per invitation; available at office supply stores)
- Scissors

Recipe

Ingredients:	Steps:
<hr style="border: none; border-top: 1px dotted black;"/>	<hr style="border: none; border-top: 1px dotted black;"/>
<hr style="border: none; border-top: 1px dotted black;"/>	<hr style="border: none; border-top: 1px dotted black;"/>
<hr style="border: none; border-top: 1px dotted black;"/>	<hr style="border: none; border-top: 1px dotted black;"/>
<hr style="border: none; border-top: 1px dotted black;"/>	<hr style="border: none; border-top: 1px dotted black;"/>
<hr style="border: none; border-top: 1px dotted black;"/>	<hr style="border: none; border-top: 1px dotted black;"/>

front (100%)

For more craft ideas and templates, go to our website: www.potterybarnkids.com and search parties.

© potterybarnkids.com